

IOSH Safety for Executives and Directors

Introduction

To provide an understanding of the moral, legal and business case for pro-active safety, health and risk management, strategic safety and health management and its integration into holistic business management systems

Designed for the senior leaders of the business this course ensures those with ultimate responsibility for the business and its actions know their legal responsibilities and can ensure the workforce and the public are safe from harm.

Assessment

All participants will complete an end-of-course assessment, which is based on short-answer questions

Duration: 1 Day Course

www.oaktree-training.co.uk

Course Objectives

Module 1

The moral, legal and financial case – how, as the leader of the business, you have a moral and legal responsibility for health and safety and the financial impact health and safety management can have

Module 2 - Plan

Health and safety planning - putting in place a solid health and safety policy and how to organise your business and workforce to implement effective management of health and safety risks

Module 3 - Do

Communicating and engaging the workforce – effective systems for communicating and training

Module 4 - Check

Setting business standards – procurement and business processes to minimise risks

Management and systems - methods of auditing, controls, reporting and monitoring the external environment, including changes in legislation

Module 5 Act

Leadership in health and safety - setting standards, culture and values, celebrating good performance, good corporate governance, annual reporting and continuous improvement

